LAW MAKERS WANT PRINTED LIQUOR RULES

CHANGES IN POLICY CONFUSING FOR LEGISLATORS

Lansing, Sept. 17. (AP)—The legislature's committee on administrative rules today "respectfully requested" the liquor control commission to compile all its policies in printed form.

The committee directed that the policies be delivered to it by Nov. 15.

In a resolution, the commission was also asked to deliver a complete set of its rules to the committee by Nov. 1.

At the second hearing to scrutinize liquor law administration, Committee Chairman Colin Smith, Big Rapids Republican, declared, "What we are up against is that perhaps thus and so is a policy today, but tomorrow a new case comes up and the policy is changed."

Today's meeting was for the benefit principally of licensees to air their grievances against the commission.

Pressure Hinted

These were highlighted by the charge of Seth Whitmore, executive secretary of the Ingham County Table-Top Licensee Congress, that the commission's decisions in some cases were dictated by political pressure.

He said this was the reason for the commission's freezing of certain pending licenses in Lansing and other cities which would be affected by a supreme court decision. The high court has been asked to rule if a change from a beer and wine license to a liquor by the glass license is issuance of a new license.

Despite urgings of Smith, Whitmore did not elaborate his charges.

Among suggestions of licensees for changes in commission rules were stiffer penalties for "willful" violations such as Sunday sales and permitting of gambling, more allowance for mitigating circumstances in penalties for sale to minors, an expanded program by the commission of education towords moderation, and elimination

Slav And Italian Clash Averted At Border Of Trieste

Trieste, Sept. 17 (AP)—Italians and Yugoslavs pointed tanks at each other at one contested point on the new frontier at Gorizia today but a possible clash was averted when it was agreed to refer the matter to a joint Italo-Yugoslav commission.

A spokesman for the United Nations boundary commission declared Yugoslavs had asked for changes in their favor of from 20 to 300 yards at every outpost except one on the boundary between the free territory of Trieste and Yugoslavia guarded by British-American troops.

Yesterday an American outpost succeeded in preventing Yugoslav troops from crossing the northern border of the Free State and marching into Trieste itself. Today the Yugoslavs were moving south skirting the British-American occupation zone to reach their own sector in the free territory.

New Commissioners For State Economic Development Named

Lansing, Sept. 17. (AP)—Appointing 10 of the 12 members of the new state economic development commission today, Governor Sigler called the group to an organizational meeting Sept. 25.

At that time, Sigler said he would appoint a chairman and hoped to be able to fill at least one of the vacancies, possibly with a representative of the Detroit area.

The commission, which will take over the records of the defunct state planning commission, will undertake the promotion of agriculture, industry and commerce in the state.

The members appointed were:

M. Dale Ogden, owner of the Ogden Advertising Agency of Kalamazoo and a civic leader, named for a one year term.

Robert A. Burns, Wakefield city attorney, former assistant attorney general and prominent in fraternal circles, appointed for a one year term.

H. F. Russell, general manager of the Saginaw division of the Eaton Manufacturing Co., member of the Saginaw valley planning commission and a past president of both the Saginaw Chamber of Commerce and the Saginaw Manufacturers association, one year term.

August Scholle, Detroit, president of the Michigan CIO council, two year term.

Inland Official Chosen

A. J. Cayia of Manistique, vice-president and general manager of the Inland Lime and Stone Co., manager of ore and quarry operations of the Inland Steel corporation, member of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and the Upper Peninsula technical and advisory board, two year term.

Gervase T. Murphy, Calumet business man, president of the Calumet Chamber of Commerce and prominent in fraternal circles, two year term.

Otto A. Seyferth, of Muskegon, president and director of the Western Michigan Steel Foundry company and the Austin Trailer Equipment company and a director of a number of Michigan firms and of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, three year term.

E. L. Anthony, dean of the Michigan State college school of agriculture, a member of the state soil conservation commission and of the former state planning commission, three year term.

Rep. Don VanderWerp, Fremont Republican, long-time Senate leader.

The new agency will take over the records of the Michigan planning commission, abolished by the legislature.

STATE WORKERS ASK PAY RAISE

Civil Service Meeting In Lansing To Act On $7,000,000 Request

Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—The state civil service commission will be asked Friday to vote pay raises totalling a maximum of $7,000,000 to 20,000 state employes.

Announcing the meeting, State Personnel Director Thomas J. Wilson said that rising wages and prices not only are slashing the income of state workers but are placing the state at an acute disadvantage in the labor market.

"The turnover in state employes in recent months has been terrific," Wilson said, "and it now is almost impossible to recruit new workers."

He said that city, school and county governments now are paying more than the state.

The commission planned to meet with Governor Sigler and Budget Director John A. Perkins before making its decision.

Wilson said he would submit three alternative pay raise proposals to the commission and that a combination of several might be adopted. These are:

1—A flat annual $300 raise to all employes, costing $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

2—A sliding pay raise based on salary, ranging from $300 to $400 a year and costing $6,500,000 to $7,000,000.

3—Reducing the work week in prisons and hospitals to 40 hours and paying overtime, costing $2,500,000.

Three cost-of-living pay raises have been granted state employes since 1941, adding $10,000,000 to state operating expenses.

Casualties Mount In Jap Hurricane; Flood Near Tokyo

BY RUSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Thursday, Sept. 18 (AP)—The U. S. army reported today that flood waters were pouring into five northern and eastern districts of Tokyo while fresh reports from the typhoon disaster pushed the unofficial casualty toll to 3,370.

Already U. S. troops in assault boats were at work rescuing thousands of Japanese from the flooded Kanto Plain east of Tokyo, and landslides to the north had added five new dead and injured to the lists.

Residents of five populous districts were evacuated, and a First Cavalry division report said new flood waters of "serious proportions" were expected to swirl through this sprawling capital.

The flooded districts were Koiwa, Kameari and Honden in eastern Tokyo, Komatsugawa in the southeast and Nishiaran in the northeast.

Kyodo news agency reported a new death toll of 1,162, an increase of almost 400 over previous figures. It added 2,050 were missing and 158 were injured.

Flood waters from the north, bearing bodies of victims on their crests, burst through levees and bore down on Tokyo's suburbs and the plains to the east, where refugees were trapped on housetops and dikes.

The First Cavalry Division sent the First and Second Brigades and the First Division Artillery to locate stranded families and villages while the Eighth Engineer Squadron and the 302nd Reconnaissance Troop (Armored) left for two big gaps in the shattered levees.

The newspaper Yomiuri reported, meanwhile, that landslides from Mount Akeegi, in Gumma prefecture north of Tokyo, all but buried a town and two villages, killing 182 and injuring 185.

Hardest hit was the town of Tako, where 82 perished and 113 were injured, Yomiuri said.

With 367 dead or injured there, and with Kyodo News Agency estimating the previous toll at 774 dead, 158 injured and 2,017 missing, this would push the unofficial casualty total to 3,316. Two of the dead were U. S. soldiers.

The Tone river, which was bursting out on the Kanto plain, also was threatening Tokyo's eastern suburbs, but no further casualties were expected there.

Kyodo said 173,820 houses were inundated and 500,000 acres of rice and other farm lands were flooded.

Japan's already short food supply was seriously menaced with thousands of acres of crops washed out and many thousands of acres of ripening rice expected to be a total loss unless waters receded quickly.

The threatened Tokyo suburban area largely is a factory district, interspersed with small farms.

Farmers tried to battle the stubborn waters in the old trad-itional way — by erecting hasty levees of rice straw filled with mud. At best these were only a temporary restraint, but throughout the night they kept working all along the river.

Throughout this region every river was filled or overflowing and drainage canals and irrigation ditches were roaring. Levelled crops indicated the force of the original rains, typhon-born Monday night, which ranged from 4 to 9 inches.

U. S. Army headquarters reported the flood-drownings of two American soldiers attached to a First Cavalry Artillery unit. Their names were witheld.

OATH IS TAKEN BY FORRESTAL

New Defense Secretary Takes Over Before Truman's Return

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—James V. Forrestal took the oath today as the nation's first secretary of defense without awaiting President's Truman's return to Washington—and Mr. Truman explained that he had directed Forrestal to do so because of the international situation.

The president, enroute home from South America on the Battleship Missouri, did not elaborate on this remark but aides quickly explained that he did not have any thing particular in mind, just the general international situation.

By taking the oath, Forrestal assumed direction of the Army, Navy and a separate Air Force, as provided in a law passed at the last session of Congress.

Whether the decision to take the oath now is intended to strengthen the hand of Secretary of State Marshall in the United Nations Assembly was not stated. Marshall, in a speech studded with criticism of Russia, today urged U. N. to make a "supreme effort" to solve the world's "deepening political and economic crisis" and save Greece from the "attacks" of its Balkan Communist neighbors.

A dispatch from Ernest B. Vaccaro, Associated Press correspondent with Mr. Truman aboard the Missouri, said Mr. Truman told reporters simply that in view of the international situation, he thought the nation should have a defense secretary.

Crank Admits He Set $275,000 Fire At Coe College, Ia.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. (AP) — Walter P. Hanson jr., 34, who said he set a $275,000 chapel fire at Coe College Sept. 4. To get revenge on a student, was sentenced to 10 years in the State penitentiary today.

Hanson was sentenced to by District Judge M. C. Hamiel, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of "setting fire to a building."

Hanson, crippled custodian at the college, told Detective Chief William Kudrna he sought revenge because the student slapped him.

Roof Ripped Off, But Tenants Stay And Beat Eviction

Camden, N. J., Sept. 17 (AP)Mrs. Myrtle Lewis, Camden school teacher, and her family have a house but no roof over their heads.

Mrs. Lewis, who lives in suburban Audubon, with her mother and three children, won dismissal today of an eviction notice which would have forced the family out of their roofless home. The school teacher charged her landlord ripped off the roof Sept. 1 in an attempt to force her to move.

Counsel for Mrs. Lewis said the next move is to get her a roof by filing a complaint with the Office of Temporary Controls.

WOMAN KILLED BY STRANGLER

Comely Baker's Wife, 21, Found Dead With Dress Tight Around Neck

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 17 (AP)—The body of comely, dark-haired Mrs. Forrest Roberts, 21, apparently a strangler's victim, was found in her apartment in a building near the downtown section late today.

Inspector Frank J. Sullivan, chief of detectives, said a threadbare cotton dress had been wound tightly around Mrs. Roberts' neck and that she lay fully clothed on her bed.

Police were summoned by the apartment building caretaker, Mrs. Donald Kraft, and took into custody Dale Beauchamp, 26, who was present at the woman's apartment.

Inspector Sullivan said Beauchamp told of meeting Mrs. Roberts in a bar at noon and escorting her home, then promising to call on her later. When Beauchamp returned about 3 p. m., Sullivan said he was told, he found Mrs. Roberts dead.

Sullivan said Mrs. Roberts' husband declared he had been at work all day at a bakery and had no knowledge of his wife's fate until police informed him.

In Mrs. Roberts' purse police said they found an unsigned note saying:

"Don't foul me up tonight. I know your husband and I won't hesitate."

Coroner Paul W. Bloxsom pronounced Mrs. Roberts dead. A further report awaited a post mortem.

Police said Beauchamp, a resident of suburban Comstock Park, was married and unemployed and that his wife is expecting a baby.

EXPORT GRAIN CUT AS FOOD PRICES MOUNT

VOLUNTARY ACTION URGED TO COMBAT LIVING COSTS

BY OVID A. MARTIN

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)— Obviously concerned over rising food prices at home, the government today slashed the amount of grain destined for shipment abroad during November.

The amount of grain allocated for shipment in that month was cut 35 per cent below the October allocation and 43 per cent below the monthly average for the July-October period.

Meantime President Truman, homeward bound from South America, was called upon by two prominent Republicans to lead the nation in voluntary action to combat high living costs.

Conservation Needed

Harold E. Stassen, candidate for the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nomination, said in a speech in New York that "a nation-wide, coordinated voluntary food conservation program "is needed at once for which only the president and the government can provide the leadership.

Senator Bridges (R-NH), in an address at Franconia, N. H., urged Mr. Truman to call together leaders of every phase of the economy for a "frank discussion" to find an approach to the problem and forestall any demand for government controls.

Commenting on Bridges' demand, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) told reporters that Bridges "aparently is unaware that there is a joint congressional committee on economics headed by Senator Taft which has the specific authority of law to deal with this problem * * * evidently Senator Bridges is passing the buck."

The grain export slash, announced by the agriculture department, came at a time when grain prices are soaring and when wide spread complaints are being made by consumers against advancing meat and other food prices.

It also came ahead of a conference scheduled Monday by the cabinet food committee — composed of Secretary of State Marshal, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and Secretary of Commerce Harriman — to review the food outlook and this country's ability to share with the hungry abroad.

The cabinet committee is expected to make recommendations to President Truman on future food export programs.

Meat Level Affected

While there has been no outward indications of a conflict, it is possible that Monday's meeting of the cabinet committee may see the state department resisting any reduction in export goals.

Agriculture department officials see maintenance of a high export goal as operating to push up prices of grain and livestock. They say that as long as consumer demand continues strong for meat and other livestock products, farmers will divert wheat to feed to replace corn.

The department also announced a fourth quarter meat export allo-

Reuther Condemns UAW Factionalism, Waste Of $500,000

Detroit, Sept. 17 (AP)—A charge that the executive board blocked enforcement of a constitutional provision against office-holding Communists in the CIO United Auto Workers was made today by President Walter P. Reuther.

The red-haired leader also called for an end to "tragic" factionalism within the big organization and accused political rivals of a "scandalous waste" of $500,000 in union funds.

In an annual membership report in the United Automobile Worker, official union publication Reuther repeated a constitutional clause which states:

"No member of any local union shall be eligible to hold any elective or appointive position in this International union or any local union in this International union if he is a member of or subservient to any political organization. such as the Communist, Nazi or Fascist organiation which owes its allegiance to any government other than the United States or Canada, directly or indirectly."

He charged that "the majority of the International executive board at a meeting in Detroit on April 18, 1947, blocked enforcement of this section of the International constitution."

Winds Slash Path Of Ruin Across State

Wind - Beaten Miami Stores Looted; One Dead, Nine Missing In Wake Of Roaring 100-Mile Gale

By The Associated Press

Miami, Sept. 18 (Thursday) (AP)—Florida millionaires and farmers alike with their holdings were left badly buffeted and shaken today by a vicious week-old hurricane that lashed 150 miles across the lower peninsula and into the Gulf of Mexico.

The howling storm struck the rich east coast resort area between Miami and Palm Beach about noon yesterday. It raged through the productive citrus and vegetable growing interior to the west coast with winds up to 120 miles an hour.

It left an aftermath of at least two deaths and millions of dollars in property damage. Devastation, however, apparently was less than had been feared.

Worst In Decade

Communications generally were shattered by the great winds and full reports of its effect were lacking.

One was electrocuted at Palm Beach. Another was shot to death by Miami police to stop looting of storm-beaten stores. Six others were arrested.

Nine persons were reported missing in two boats off the gulf coast.

After slashing the west coast city of Fort Myers beginning around 8:30 p. m. (CDT) with winds up to 100 miles an hour, the center of the terrifying blow swept into the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico before midnight.

Weather forecasters at New Orleans said it was unlikely to curve inland again.

It was the mightiest storm to strike Florida in a decade. It came from the Caribean Sea, birthplace of deadly winds, and was first detected a week ago.

Two vessels were believed in distress off the Florida Gulf coast. Seven crewmen of the 40-foot schooner Pilar were bailing by hand after all pumps and engines failed, and the little vessel was shipping water in heavy seas. An unidentified vessel was rushing to her aid.

CALL RED CROSS

Inquiries regarding the welfare of persons in the Florida hurricane area should be addressed to the Red Cross chapter in the city where the inquiry originates. These requests will then be channeled by the Red Cross to the proper chapter, which will furnish the requested information as quickly as possible.

A 106-ton banana boat, Rita, was limping toward Cuba on one engine, but radioed she hoped to be clear of the storm's violent center.

The course of the storm, after emerging in the gulf, was uncertain.

Citrus growers in southern Florida estimated their probable loss in millions of dollars, but said it was likely that the greater portion of the $100,000,000 crop would be spared.

Tomatoes and other truck crops in the mucklands region around Lake Okeechobee were badly beaten by terrific winds and scythe-like rain. There was optimism, however, when Army en-

SIGLER TO CALL EXTRA SESSION

Veterans' Groups Broke; Legislature Expected To Meet Sept. 29

Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—The date for a special session of the legislature, presumably about September 29, will be announced tomorrow by Governor Sigler to pull state veterans organizations out of a fiscal hole.

The lawmakers, Sigler said, will be asked to appropriate money to the veterans groups to replace $430,200 which was voted by the 1947 regular session and declared unconstitutional by Attorney General Eugene F. Black.

Black held the legislature failed to give the appropriation the two-thirds vote necessary for grants to private organizations.

Sigler said his decision to call a special session was based on the Children's Billet at Otter Lake fact that the American Legion would be without funds and that care of 100 children must be halted.

Following are the appropriations which were invalidated by Black's ruling:

American Legion, $91,000; Disabled American Veterans, $94,500; Veterans of Foreign Wars, $92,500; Grand Army of the Republic, $2,200; Spanish American War Veterans, $10,000 and the Children's Billet, $120,000.

Motorscoot Needs No License, But The Driver Does

Lansing, Sept. 17 (AP)—Attorney General Eugene F. Black declared today that a motor scooter need not be licensed, the driver of one must have a driver's license.

The difference, Black said in an opinion, is in the definition of a "motor vehicle" In the motor vehicle registration law and the title law.

In another opinion, Black asserted that a state veterans' bonus is due the dependents of a war veteran who died from service-connected causes after less than 60 days of service. In all other respects, veterans are not eligible for a bonus unless they served 60 days.

Fat Women Return To Ford Payroll On Orders Of Umpire

Detroit, Sept. 17 (AP)—A pound of industrial efficiency was worth a streamlined ounce of glamour at the Ford Motor Co. today—by decree of an impartial labor-management umpire.

Two women, not identified by name, complained that the company refused to rehire them because they were "too fat." One weighed 216 pounds and the other 249.

Dr. Harry Shulman directed the firm to put them back on the payroll, commenting:

"The question is not one of artistic preference between Rubens and Powers models. Neither the ample curves of the one nor the trim lines of the other are requisites for shop hands."

Senators Check Up On Farm Program To Produce Food

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—Seven senators set out today to find a "long range farm program" that will "get crops on consumers' tables without having price increases of 300 or 400 per cent."

This is one of the goals fixed by Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) for a special agriculture committee investigation ordered by the Senate and financed with a $15,000 fund.

"We want adequate production without penalizing the producers," Aiken said. "In the past a farm surplus brought a collapse in the market and left the farmer holding the bag."

Aiken announced that the group will begin its study with public hearings here Oct. 6, 7, and 8 at which Secretary of Agriculture Anderson and spokesmen for major farm organizations will testify.

The field hearings will begin Oct. 20 at Springfield, Ill., and then move on to Minneapolis, Minn., Ames, Iowa and Denver, Colo., with exact dates to be determined later. Public hearings also will be held in south and northeast farm areas.

ATTACK MADE UPON RUSSIA BY MARSHALL

BOLD PLAN OFFERED TO REBUILD U. N. PEACE MACHINE

BY FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

New York, Sept. 17. (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall, making a slashing attack on Russia, seized the initiative today in the United Nations assembly with a bold new plan to rebuild the deadlocked U. N. peace machinery.

To the obvious surprise and confusion of the entire Russian delegation, Marshall proposed a curb on the big power veto and creation of a "little assembly" commission to maintain everlasting vigilance over world peace.

Russia lost little time, however, in banging back at Marshall on the Greek question. Marshall asked the assembly to send a commission to Greece to investigate the Balkan situation. Russia then demanded in a hot afternoon meeting of the steering committee that the assembily refuse to discuss the whole Greek case.

Soviets Startled

Russia contended that leaving the Greek case before the delegates might lead to "further aggravation" in the Balkans.

The committee voted 12 to 2, with Russia and Poland dissenting, to recommend that the assembly consider the Greek question. Cuba and Britain spoke in support of the United States' demand that the case be heard.

The second Marshall plan—for the world—hit the assembly with tremendous impact.

It was the first crack in the firm stand of the five great powers—Russia, the United States, China, France and Britain—against repeated outcries of the small and medium nations for revision of the U. N. charter.

It caught the Russian delegation off-base, causing Andrei Y. Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate, to cancel a policy statement he had intended to make this afternoon.

The Russians refrained from joining the burst of applause which greeted Marshall at the end of his 25-minute talk.

The assembly called off its afternoon meeting to give the delegates of 55 nations time to study the American pronouncement which was delivered with the full blessing of President Truman.

General debate will be resumed tomorrow at 10 a. m. (C. D. T.) with all waiting to see whether Russia will be ready to speak up then.

Restrictions On Veto

With soldierly directness and in simple words Marshall demanded, on behalf of the United States, that:

1. The assembly create an interim committee on peace and security, composed of every member state, which would be, in effect, a year-around sitting of the assembly.

2. The 55 member nations should restrict the veto to matters concerning threats of war.

3. The assembly fix responsibility in the Balkans situation, call upon Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania to stop helping guerillas in Greece, and set up a commission to see that these measures are carried out.

4. The assembly find a satisfactory solution for the Palestine case, with the United States in-

Farm Work Easier As Experts Check Time-Motion Waste

Ames, Ia., Sept. 16 (AP)—Factory procedures for eliminating lost time and motion are being used to help Iowa farmers make their work easier.

Iowa State College agricultural scientists checking representative Iowa farms are coming up with concrete evidence to show that farmers needlessly waste much effort each day.

In general farmers are being advised to:

1. Gear their farms to the machine, not to the horse.
2. Plan their work programs and farm layouts in a way that will increase efficiency.
3. Make full use of the law of gravity in getting feed to their livestock.
4. Rearrange their fields to cut down the number of time-consuming turns necessary in growing and harvesting a crop.

The time-and-motion studies gives farmers a chance to prove that timeless boast: "Follow in my tracks all day, Buddy, and you'll be draggin' when night comes."

Actually, the experts do just that. In gathering their data they use notebooks, stop watches and tape measure. They draw a scale model of the farmstead with every important point sketched in. This is mounted on a large board and through use of threads a web is spun depicting the farmers' movements throughout a typical day.

The results are proving to be eye-openers for the farmers involved.

'GET RICH' BILL TO BE REVISED

Easy Grants In Alaska Offer Chance For Profiteers

By DREW PEARSON

One problem congress must decide at the next session is whether war vets shall be encouraged to settle Alaska under the so-called Veterans Homesteading Bill, sponsored by GOP Representative William Lemke of North Dakota.

This measure, which died on the senate calendar after passing the house near the close of the last session, is simple on its face. After a period of residence, it gives veterans and their families title to tracts of virgin Alaskan land up to 1,920 acres.

However, there are ramifications that cut much deeper, including the all-important one of bracing our weakest invasion door against Russia. Thus, the War Department can be expected to support the Lemke bill, since vet homesteaders probably would settle near the seacoast.

Lemke also has the potent backing of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which is strong for Alaskan homesteading. But the bill is meeting staunch opposition from other quarters, chiefly because of its loosely drawn, "pie in the sky" character.

These opponents claim that except for some undeveloped land in the Matanuska Valley, Alaska is unsuited to agriculture. Vets who tried to establish permanent homes in Alaska, it is argued, would find themselves stranded.

Also, there isn't enough farm machinery in Alaska for the farmers already there, and settlers would have to import not only machinery but livestock.

Quick Title

In addition, opponents of the Lemke bill claim it has a loophole that would enable unscrupulous "settlers" to clean up a small fortune.

The bill provides that a residence of three years in Alaska is necessary to establish claim for title, nevertheless military service up to two years can be counted against this requirement. Thus a vet with two years or more of service would have to live in Alaska only one year to get title to his land. The period of residence is further shortened by Alaskan homesteading laws, which, due to winter weather, recognize 7½ months of residence as a full year.

The Lemke bill further provides that timber on a homesteader's land can be sold five years after a settler gets title. Thus, there is nothing to prevent a veteran from staking off 1,920 acres of the heavily-timbered Tongass National Forest (eligible for settlement under the bill), residing there 7½ months, returning to the United States and selling the timber after five years.

The U. S. Forest Service estimates that 1,920 acres of timber in the Tongass reserve would net $37,000 at current market prices. Nice "work" if you can get it, and an enterprising vet can get it under Lemke's bill. That is why observers agree the measure will have to be amended radically to overcome senate opposition.

6 Staff Nurses Serve Delta And Menominee

Reassignments made at the meeting of the Delta-Menominee board of health in Pinecrest sanatorium Tuesday night provide for the services of six staff nurses, each of whom care for an area of 10,000 population, every point of which is within 50 miles of the nurse's respective headquarters.

Under this plan, board officials pointed out, the maximum service is provided throughout the two cooperating counties.

It was decided that visitations would be made to all rural schools to examine kindergarten and first-grade children and to refer to their respective family physician those who need medical attention.

Areas of responsibility in the two counties and the nurse in charge of each follow: Mrs. Dorothy Boyle—Fairbanks township, Garden, Nahma, Ensign, Wells (east of US-2), Bay de Noc, city of Escanaba from 12th avenue North to the city limits.

Miss Hilma Asikainen—Brampton township, Maple Ridge, Masonville, city of Gladstone.

Miss Louise Grimm —Baldwin, Cornell, Ford River, Escanaba, Wells, city of Escanaba from Ludington north to 12th avenue.

Miss Marjorie Garrow —Bark River, Harris, Spalding, Meyer, city of Escanaba, Ludington street.

Miss Irma Bruemer (Menominee county) Faithorn, Nadeau, Guerley, Holmes, Daggett, Stephenson, Menominee city to Lloyd.

Miss Marion Berg—(Menominee) Cedarville, Lake, Millen, Ingallston Menominee city south of Lloyd.

It was also decided at this week's board meeting that the board will alternate future meetings between Menominee and Escanaba instead of conducting board sessions at Powers, as has been the custom in the past.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Yes, I'm Guilty!
Folks sometimes criticize us small-town editors for the way we often play up "little things" ahead of big . . . human, local news in place of world events.
I can't deny it. Read the Clarion and you'll learn about the Martins' golden wedding anniversary . . . about the community sing down by the river . . . the husking bee at Sober Hoskins', where neighbors helped husk the corn, and later drank sparkling beer together.
"Little things?" Maybe. But from where I sit, they add up to the bigger things we call America: The friendliness of small towns . . . the helping hand . . . the respect for one another's rights. And above all the love of fellowship and freedom—whether it's freedom to speak one's mind or choose between a glass of beer or buttermilk.
I figure that if everybody looks after the "little things," maybe the bigger things will take care of themselves.

Driver Convicted Of Reckless Driving

Donald Bichler, 422 Ludington street, was convicted of reckless driving at a hearing conducted in justice court here yesterday afternoon. He was fined $25 and $12.25 court costs or 30 days in the county jail.

The charge grew out of an accident Sept. 12 during which a car driven by Bichler broke a light pole on Lake Shore Drive.

When telegraph lines were built across the Great Plains of the United States in conjunction with the first transcontinental railroad, hostile Indians long took care not to disturb the wires, regarding them as the "talking medicine of the Great Spirit."

FAMOUS INTERNATIONAL POLO STAR
EXPERIENCE IS THE BEST TEACHER IN POLO...AND IN CIGARETTES! CAMELS SUIT ME BEST!
CAMEL
TURKISH & DOMESTIC BLEND CIGARETTES

He's one of America's polo "greats"—Texas-born Cecil Smith. Veteran of many a famous international match, he's rated at 10 goals.

Hard-riding, hard-hitting Cecil Smith practically "grew up" with horses; and he's as sure-seated on a polo pony as he is a sure shot with his mallet.

More people are smoking CAMELS than ever before!

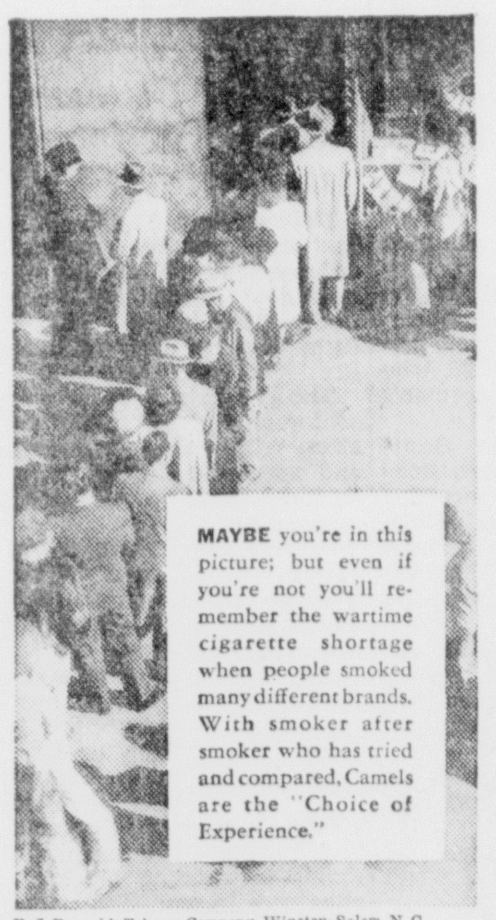
Yes, experience during the wartime cigarette shortage taught millions the differences in cigarette quality!

LET POLO STAR Cecil Smith tell you in his own words:

"That cigarette shortage during the war was a real experience. That's when I learned how much I really appreciated Camels. They suit me to a 'T'!"

Yes, that shortage was a revealing experience to smokers everywhere. One day they smoked one brand—next day a different brand. Now and then the brand was Camel. That's how so many more smokers learned . . . from experience . . . that Camels suit them best.

Try Camels. Compare. Let your own experience tell you why more people are smoking Camels than ever before.



MAYBE you're in this picture; but even if you're not you'll remember the wartime cigarette shortage when people smoked many different brands. With smoker after smoker who has tried and compared, Camels are the "Choice of Experience."

Local Health Funds Cut Despite Federal Boost

Although United States Public Health Service appropriations for Michigan this fiscal year were increased over last year—$1,239,164 as compared with $1,188,339—the state appropriation from this Federal fund to the Delta-Menominee board of health has been reduced from $15,118 in 1946-47 to $6,656 in 1947-48, it was disclosed at the board's meeting in the Pinecrest sanatorium Tuesday evening.

Dr. William C. Harrison, Escanaba, director of the Delta-Menominee health district, informed the board that not only did the local board of health not share in the increase, as might be expected, but its allocation actually is reduced approximately 40 per cent from the amount of Federal money received in the fiscal year ending last July 1.

"Despite this increase to the state from the U. S. Public Health Service, our appropriation was reduced," he explained. "About $6500 was allocated for the first six months of the current fiscal year, but during the last six months, up to next July 1, we will receive only $100 in Federal money."

As a result of the reduced appropriation from the state of Federal money, the Delta-Menominee board of health faces a deficit of $8,300 in its first year of operation, this amount representing the difference between the 1946-47 and 1947-48 Federal appropriation to the local unit.

The board Tuesday night voted to request an appropriation of $12,000 each from the Delta and Menominee county boards of supervisors, action to be taken at the budget meetings of those groups this fall. This money, however, will not offset the anticipated deficit, it was explained.

BIKE SAFETY DRIVE BEGINS

Traffic Clubs To Be Formed In Three City Schools

A bicycle and motorscoot safety campaign in Escanaba, launched by the Junior Chamber of Commerce this week, will be aimed largely at safety education and impressing upon cyclists and motorscooters the necessity of complying with all existing traffic regulations.

With 1,800 bicycles and hundreds of motorscooters being operated in Escanaba, their indiscriminate use is regarded as a major traffic problem and one which, if curbed, will go far toward reducing the number of accidents on city streets.

Organization of traffic clubs in the Escanaba senior and junior high schools and St. Joseph's parochial school will be the first step in the traffic safety education program, it was announced yesterday.

Demonstration Planned

The full cooperation of school authorities has been assured. Organization of the traffic clubs by the students themselves, managed and operated by them under the supervision of school authorities, will get underway within the next few days.

The Junior C-C committee will cooperate with the schools and with city police in the drive to provide maximum safety on streets and sidewalks.

This will be entirely an education program, it was declared. Through demonstrations at the three city schools, young people will be shown how to ride bicycles and motorscoots safely and to comply with traffic regulations.

Traffic Deputies

Riders will not be permitted to operate their cycles and scooters on the left side of the street or on the sidewalk. Trick riding will not be permitted. Lights at the front and rear of cycles and scooters must be visible at 500 feet and arterial and other stop signs must be observed.

Another phase of the safety campaign discussed at the organization meeting was the possibility of appointing civilian traffic deputies to cooperate with city police in curbing infractions of traffic safety rules.

Among those attending the organization meeting were Pat Rooney, Wheaton Strom, Roy Johnson, Claude Tobin, Andrew Skaug, James G. Ward Jr., and Chief of Police Mike Ettenhofer.

"Wetting agents" for water — chemicals that reduce surface tension so the water will flow more freely—are being experimented with in fighting forest fires.

UN Showdown Ahead

THE meeting of the United Nations assembly which opened in New York Tuesday probably will determine whether the United Nations will become a potent organization for world tranquility or merely another international debating society, a sounding board for conflicting ideologies.

The United Nations was chartered with the hopes of the world that it would become a medium for peaceful settlement of international problems. Despite the unfortunate truth that the UN thus far has not fulfilled the expectations of its creators, it is still the only organization that stands a chance of establishing a solid foundation for permanent world peace and international understanding.

As it is now constituted, success of the United Nations depends upon a reversal of Soviet Russia's foreign policy. Russia has blocked every effort of the UN security council to find a basis for settlement of most of the pressing problems of the world. Through abusive use of its veto authority, Russia has almost completely nullified the effectiveness of the security council. The hope now is that the United Nations assembly, where the big power veto is invalid, will find the means to fortify the world organization so that it can become the instrument for world peace which its creators envisioned at San Francisco.

If Russia persists in its determination to render the United Nations impotent as a society of nations dedicated to world tranquility, the showdown will probably come in the present session of the UN assembly. The situation is not one calling for appeasement, but rather a forthright stand by those nations which see a world peril in the Soviet determination to spread the tentacles of Communism ever farther.

The whole world hopes that the Soviet Union will remain in the United Nations organization and that it will use its powerful resources in support of UN objectives. Thus far, this has been only wishful thinking because up to now Russia has not shown any material interest in fortifying the United Nations. On the contrary, Russia's part in the world organization has been only to harass, frustrate and impede progress of a union of nations upon which the world has directed its prayers for peace.

Fast Time Issue

THE graph published in yesterday's issue of the Escanaba Daily Press showing the daylight hours in Escanaba at all seasons of the year reveals the advantage of an extra hour of daylight during the evenings in fall and winter, as well as in the spring and summer months.

The heavy traffic period on Escanaba streets is from five to six o'clock in the evenings. With eastern standard time we would escape darkness during that hour at all seasons of the year, except in late November and December when darkness would arrive at about 5:40 p. m. By contrast, under central standard time it would be totally dark between the hours of five to six p. m. from Nov. 15 to Feb. 15.

It is true that by taking the extra hour of daylight in the evening that eastern standard time would provide, we would have to forfeit an hour of daylight in the early morning period. By and large, we would profit by lower electric bills under eastern standard time in the winter months because electric usage is heavier in the evening hours than in the morning hours.

Apparently these factors were taken into consideration by Escanaba voters last February when every precinct returned a favorable vote for fast time the year around.

Freeze Air Routes?

THE bigwigs of the big airlines have not given up on their efforts to freeze present air routes at the expense of localities still awaiting commercial air service.

This was indicated in testimony presented Tuesday by C. R. Smith, chairman of American Airlines, before the president's air policy commission. Smith testified that present routes should be improved and developed before more federal money is spent to serve areas with inadequate or without air service.

The plan to freeze air routes is not new. It has been presented by the major airlines on numerous occasions in the past. The plan would be beneficial for them since they already possess their franchises and are anxious to have airport facilities along their routes improved. Up to now the federal government has resisted this policy and has gone forward with a program of assistance to areas not yet served by commercial air transports.

The smaller communities of the nation are naturally sympathetic to the needs of the major air routes but not to the extent that they are willing to forego their own desires for commercial air service. Most of those communities, like Escanaba, have patiently awaited airport improvements that would open the way for commercial air service to them. They rightfully believe that they are now entitled to benefits that will accrue under the program of expansion of the nation's air networks.

Basic Economic English

SEVERAL bitter wage disputes of recent memory have been marked by sharp statistical skirmishes. Economists from labor and management have taken figures from the same company's balance sheets and come up with entirely different conclusions. And sometimes, when the shooting was over, there was a suspicion that the adversaries had marched in opposite directions and had never been in range of each other.

The public can only guess whether these inconclusive engagements are the result of deliberate efforts to deceive or honest confusion. For, certainly, most of us are stumped by the complexities of an average corporation's financial statement.

Th American Economic Foundation believes that this general confusion has had some alarming consequences, such as making the word "capitalist" a term of abuse, and "private enterprise" and "profit" synonymous with exploitation and crookedness.

Eight years ago, the men who started the Foundation discovered, through a public opinion poll, that more than half the people questioned—rich as well as poor—thought that big businesses kept more of their income as profits than they paid out as wages. This led these men to the reasonable assumption that more economic friction is generated by ignorance of business operations than by prejudice.

What was the cause of this ignorance? The Foundation decided that the main trouble was the lack of simple words to explain where a corporation's money comes from and what is done with it. The technical language of accounting was just too much for most of the people all of the time.

After much study the Foundation's analysts and accountants hit upon what they called "social" accounting. Its vehicle is a short, simple profit-or-loss statement which they call a "functional operating report." It leads off with the amount of money which the company received from its customers. Then follows an explanation of how the receipts were spent, with their appropriate amounts: the cost of goods and services bought from others; the cost of human energy (wages and salaries); the cost of tools wearing out (depreciation, depletion); cost of payment ordered by government (taxes); cost of using the tools (profit). The customer is thought of as the real employer, and profit is what he pays for the use of the tools which turn out the products he wants.

Several large companies already use this form. But it was only a few days ago that the Foundation made public an instruction manual for the new method. With its publication, many stockholders and workers possibly are going to discover for the first time what their company is doing.

The American system of privately-owned industry is being challenged and questioned, within and without this country. Those who believe in it can scarcely be expected to defend it if they don't understand how it works. A more general adoption of simple explanations mimght well reduce labor-management misunderstandings, and their resultant strife, and help to keep our economy on a more even keel.

IMPERSONAL "ONE" EDITORIAL "WE"

(Scrapbook Item)

Q. I have told my English class that the impersonal "one" should not be followed by any of the pronouns. Am I correct?—Mrs. D. F. M.

A. Quite correct. Since the impersonal "one" means "any person not actually named," it is better not to follow with a pronoun.

Avoid: "One should do his best, the matter, he would change his opinion." Better: If one would reflect on the matter, one would change one's opinion.

Now it must be admitted that the "better" construction immediately above has a rather precious air to it. It sounds like a passage out of ~~a~~ not-too-well-written English novel: "I say, old boy, one must be constantly on one's guard lest one offend one's friends by one's rudeness — I mean, mustn't one?"

Q. Will you please discuss the "editorial we," and explain when it is permissible? Thanks on behalf of my journalism class——H. M.

A. The editorial or royal WE is not in good taste except: (1) in unsigned editorials which express the opinion, not of the actual writer, but of the editorial staff as a whole; () when used by a monarch who, like George VI, speaks, not as an individual, but as the symbolic head of the government.

For example, a columnist or a feature writer whose work appears under a byline should not write: "We are of the opinion that; according to our latest information we can now reveal," etc.

Such a writer should use the first person pronouns I, me, my, making sure, however, that the pronouns are not used so often as to appear egotistical.

The rule is the same for speakers. If you express your own views, use I, me, my. If you speak merely as the mouthpiece of a group, such as a board of directors, a committee, a membership, then, of course, the editorial we is proper.

Athens, Greece—With all Europe reeling toward the gravest economic crisis, this extreme eastern projection of the tragic continent may be lost sight of. The fact remains, however, that it is here in this trouble center and here alone that the USA is committed to direct intervention.

Childs

How are we doing in Greece? The answer must be: Not too well. But given the circumstances, this should surprise no one.

First and most important is the time element. The program the American aid mission is now attempting to carry out is based on information supplied last December and January. Since then conditions inside Greece have greatly deteriorated. The guerrilias in the hills are expanding the area they control, and the economic condition has worsened.

On top of the delay of nearly six months in sending the aid mission with relief, there came another delay. This was a delay of nearly two months after the arrival of mission director Dwight Griswold in moving to broaden the base of the Greek government. Stubborn leaders of the Populist party on the extreme right were unwilling to share power with the Liberal party. Griswold's determination, plus the visit of Loy Henderson from the state department in Washington, finally forced the issue. But for a fortnight in the crisis, Greece had no valid government. A mystery to everyone here is why the Communists in the north did not exploit the situation and announce a free goverenment in their area.

Now, for a week Greece has had a coalition government of the two major parties under the premiership of Themistocles Sophoulis. It is not merely as though the Democrats and Republicans in the United States were to form a joint government. The cleavage is deeper, since the two major Greek parties disagree fundamentally on the form of government. The Liberals, with a base in deep Republican tradition, are opposed to a monarchy. The Populist party favors a monarchy and runs from conservative to extreme reactionary. Whether this odd team can pull together remains to be seen.

The real question is whether the honest amnesty offered by 86-year-old Sophoulis will persuade the Rebels to surrender their arms and come out of the hills. Sophoulis' reputation for integrity and Republicanism is counted on to attract thousands not irrevocably committed to Communism.

Most Americans with a long background in Greece are skeptical of the outcome. So are Greeks of genuine Democratic persuasion who believe that the former government alienated people by the arrest and exile of thousands who were not Communists at all but Republicans with a hatred of oppression and the symbols of oppression.

On the other hand, Archbishop Damaskinos, perhaps the wisest man in the country, is enormously heartened by the coalition which, behind the scenes, he helped to shape. Damaswinos, who was regent following the revolution of 1944, is one of the most extraordinary figures of our time. He glows with hope at the prospect of peace from the new government.

A straw in the wind is the offer of the Rebels on the Island of Crete to surrender under the terms on the amnesty. It is recognized, however, that the Cretan Rebels are a less fierce breed than those in Macedonia.

A potent fact is that the whole budget of the American mission is being recast, with the probability that the military will get a greater share than originally contemplated. This seems a clear sign of an intention to concentrate on a more efficient and possibly even a larger army. Certainly security is the first essential. But whether it can be obtained with the present Greek army is doubtful.

The army of 138,000 is so organized that only 30,000 to 40,000 can be deployed against the guerrllas at any one time. The training of the army by the British in the old tradition introduced rigidities and formalties that are a handicap in mountain warfare.

There are still several thousand British troops in Greece, most of them around Salonika. Greeks in Athens tremble at the prospect of their removal. They believe it would mean immediate intensification of material and possibly even troops from across the border.

Americans I have talked to here hope the British troops can be kept on. Yet Griswold has recommended that an American occupation force come in if the British, in an economy move, do pull their troops out.

There should be no illusions about the difficulties an American force would meet. The northern border is 700 miles in length, through wild, mountainous country. The pressure would be great to get the Americans to seal this border as essential to the security of the nation.

These are the grim realities of our uncomfortable position on the razor's edge at a point where East and West meet.

AVIATION —In this Upper Peninsula country of ours people seem more naturally inclined toward flying than do folks in more settled and less expansive territory. This U. P. country is big. Travel distances are long. It is as far from Ironwood to Sault Ste. Marie as it is from the Straits to Detroit.

Dunathan.

Yet aviation is still in what some people might describe as its Upper Peninsula infancy. The need for it is great, the people are ready to take to the air, and all they need is the air transportation. That is coming, and rapidly. Nationwide Airlines is operating between Houghton and Detroit with a stop at Menominee and proposes to stop at Escanaba when a runway lengthening project has been completed. Sault Ste. Marie is also connected by air with Detroit, has been for many years. Wisconsin Central Airlines proposes stops at Menominee, Escanaba, Iron Mountain and other western U. P. cities when its service is inaugurated—and when the airports are improved to accommodate DC-3's.

DARING YOUNG MEN—The history of aviation in the Upper Peninsula has a background of exploits by daring young men. Some of those men are no longer young and they are no longer daring. Barnstorming flights in the 1920's has changed to the serious business of charter flights and student training in 1947. Equipment has improved and flights that once would be considered foolhardy are now routine.

Despite newspaper headlines and radio commentator dramatics over aviation tragedies, people have confidence in airplanes and the men who fly them. Most of us have flown or have friends who fly quite regularly. Pilots no longer do antics for county fair patrons, but fly the plane for utilitarian purposes.

FOR THE OLD— Transportation by plane is particularly welcomed by those who live in isolated places. Take Washington Island, for instance. Pioneer Aviation makes many charter flights to the Island, and Wally Arntzen is as well known there as he is in Escanaba.

When Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richter of Washington Island wanted to visit in Escanaba for a few days recently they flew here in a Pioneer Aviation plane. Mr. Richter is over 70, Mrs. Richter is in her 60's. Yet they took to the air confidently, enjoyed the crossing with its panoramic view of Green bay-Lake Michigan and the islands that separate the two bodies of water like a string of beads extending from Fairport south to Door county, Wisconsin. They were in Escanaba in a matter of minutes where the usual boat-land route would have taken hours. Here they visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richter, 200 First avenue south.

STILL DIFFICULTIES — The millions of miles in safe flight made by planes is often overlooked when trouble occurs. Yet in the Upper Peninsula, where airports are not too close together, forced landings are not uncommon. In a more populated area with more emergency landing fields this hazard would be minimized.

Marie L. DeLoughary of Bark River Rt. 2 writes that farm fields near Eustis, have twice served as emergency landing fields for airmen within the past 11 months. Last fall two Marquette men, enroute to Milwaukee, flew for three hours over fog-blanketed land and water before finding a safe landing at Eustis in a field owned by Alex Henderson.

On Aug. 20 Kenneth Bunker and John Rubick of Manistique, unable to locate the Escanaba airport because of fog, turned back to high ground and landed on the Harmony Farm owned by the DeLoughary Brothers. When the fog cleared the flyers took off without mishap and continued on their way.

AIRPORT PROBLEMS— Almost every community of any size in the Upper Peninsula has an airport or a landing field of some kind. Garden has a landing field that this summer had more than usual use. There was once a landing field on the beach at Nahma, where Ellsworth Ranquette landed and took off in his plane. A hangar was built there, has now been razed. Higher water levels spoiled the sand beach landing strip.

Although it is an airport in name only, Delta county has one atop the bluff southwest of Gladstone. It was developed during the 1930 WPA relief work days and was complete with hangar. There the county has a 15-year lease on 160 acres of land owned by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Olson of Gladstone. The lease expires next year and the county board is considering whether to exercise its option to purchase the land before the agreement ends. The county is paying $1,500 total for the "use" of the land. A plane hasn't landed there in years.

Escanaba had its airport growing pains and still has twinges. The first airport in this vicinity was located on US-2-41 west of Wells. The hangar is now occupied by the Superior Products company, makers of concrete culverts and bricks. The present airport southwest of the city is expanding. Although a DC-3 carrying Gov. Sigler on pre-election campaign tour landed their last year, the runways must be extended for use by large planes.

Latest "airport" project considered by the city council was the purchase of a couple thousand acres of land from the government at the ore dock site north and west of the city. The city is paying $60,000 for the land, including valuable waterfront. Whether an airport will ever be built on any part of it is problematical but if the need arises the city has a site with ample area for a field with mile-long runways.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—When Harry Gruman gets away from "government by cronies" and acts on his own, he usually rings the bell. When he acts hastily "on the advice of cronies," he frequently gets his feet wet—and the nation's, too. That is one deduction drawn from the present woes of White House Radio Adviser J. Leonard Reinsch.

Pearson

Last spring, Reinsch, an applicant for a radio station in Cincinnati, Ohio, was turned down by the Federal Communications Commission. Shortly thereafter, FCCommissioner Ray Wakefield, Republican, who voted against Reinsch and his Cincinnati station, found himself out of a job. The White House had withdrawn Wakefield's name for- reappointment.

In his place was appointed Congressman Robert Jones, not merely a Republican, but a strongly isolationist Republican, with a record of having voted against Roosevelt-Truman foreign policies both before and after Pearl Harbor.

—TRUMAN WAKES UP—

In his hand, Denny carried Broadcasting magazine, mouthpiece of the big radio networks, announcing that he, Denny, was resigning as FCChairman with White House Radio Adviser Reinsch taking his place.

"I'm not planning to resign, Mr. President," explained the puzzled FCChairman, "But I will if you want me to."

Truman protested that it was all news to him, told Denny he needed him on the FCC, had no intention of letting him resign. Never slow to catch a point, Truman figured that Reinsch had planted the resignation story, was pulling wires to get Denny out and himself into the FCC.

Result No. 1: J. Leonard Reinsch is very much in the presidential doghouse. Originally slated to accompany Truman to Rio de Janeiro, Reinsch's name was suddenly scratched from the list. The White House is now reported looking for a new radio adviser.

Result No. 2: Truman realizes he did an injustice to FCCommissioner Ray Wakefield, a Republican who has made a conscientious career out of government, was yanked off the FCC one day after Truman urged Princeton grads to make a career of government. Conscience-stricken, Truman now plans to make Wakefield either a federal judge in California or a member of the Federal Power Commission—probably the latter.

—BRITISH RATIONING—

England is one country where the black market is kept at a minimum. And the higher-up the Britisher, the more he leans over backward to obey rationing.

The other day in England, Charles Luckman, wonder-boy of American business who heads the Lever Brothers soap properties in the USA, was being entertained by Lord and Lady Leverhulme at their castle. His visit over, Luckman was packing his bags to leave for Boston when Lord Leverhulme came into his room.

In the open suitcase, his lordship noticed six cakes of Swan soap, made by the American branch of Lever Brothers. Luckman had brought the soap with him to England.

"Chuck," said Lord Leverhulme, half apologetically, "I suppose you won't be needing that soap when you go back to America."

"Not at all," said Luckman and, picking up the six cakes, he gave them to the head of the biggest soap company in the world.

Lord Liverhulme had been so careful to observe rationing that he refrained from slipping a few bars of soap into his pocket when he left his own factory.

—OUR NO. 1 ENEMY—

It may sound hard to believe, but the huge shortage of this year's corn crop could be largely offset if the American people were able to eliminate one factor in their economy—rats.

Most people don't realize it, but one healthy rat eats or spoils around 100 pounds of grain per year. And while it's impossible to count the rat population, Interior Department experts estimate that rats are almost double the human population—probably totaling 250,000,000 in the U. S.

Entirely aside from the disease which rats spread from privy to pantry, and the havoc they wreak upon the waterfronts of American seaports, their effect upon the food supply of the United States is almost beyond realization. Between the time a farmer stores his corn in the fall and cleans out his corncrib in the summer, rats may have eaten the difference between profit and loss for the year. In addition, they spoil as much corn as they eat.

If the food destroyed by rats could be shipped overseas, this alone would about save Europe from its current danger of starvation.

At present one government agency, the fish and wildlife service of the Interior Department, is working on rat eradication. Handicapped by lack of funds, squeezed low by a penny-pinching congress, government rat eradicators are able to do little beyond circulating anti-rat propaganda.

During the war, the U. S. army, working with Interior Department experts, developed a new rat poison—"1080"—so deadly it will wipe cut the rat population of a farm overnight. However, it is also deadly to other animals, and for that reason has not been put into general use.

Government experts recommend red squill as the best rat poison; also gas pumped into rats' underground burrows. Rat traps are too slow for the prolific rodent, which reproduces about as fast as he can be trapped.

What people used to spend, but don't now, is nobody's business.

SOUTH SEEKS HYBRID CORN

Georgia Farmers Want To Compete With Midwest

By HENRY LESESNE

Atlanta, Ga.—(NEA)—Can the Southeast ever become a corn belt and thereby become a great livestock country—forever the dream of the economic planners for the South?

An agricultural scientist, a Russian by birth, who is half finished with an eight-year test of 2000 strains of corn to obtain the perfect hybrid, believes that it can.

With the Mid-West's corn crop badly hit by weather this year, this scientist's experiments take on a new importance.

The drawback of the region always has been the problem of feed, most of which has to be imported. Because of climate and other conditions, it can't grow corn economically like the Mid-West.

Yet, despite this great handicap, the Southeast has built up a considerable livestock industry as it has learned, in a decade, to grow as much cotton as formerly on half the acreage.

Pastureland acreage has increased enormously. Today Georgia farmers, for instance, derive as much income from livestock as from cotton. The situation is not greatly different in other parts of the Southeast.

The farmers have learned, too, to grow grain sorghums, hitherto confined mostly to semi-arid areas of the west, as a supplement to corn. There has also been considerable use recently of dehydrated sweet potatoes as a corn substitute.

While the Southeast can't grow corn economically, it can produce sweet potatoes easily and prolifically. A discouraging factor, though, is that sweet potato production requires considerable cheap hand labor.

A hybrid corn particularly suited to the region may change the whole picture of livestock production.

The experiments are being made by Dr. G. A. Lebedeff, a Russian-born associate agronomist, at the Georgia State Experiment Station. He thinks that within a few years Georgia farmers may be able to compete with the Corn Belt. Dr. Lebedeff came to America in 1925 with a group on tour, has degrees from the University of Connecticut and Cornell, and joined the Agriculture Experiment Station in 1940. His aim is to get the four best strains out of the 2000 and cross them to form a top-producing hybrid.

BUILDS SHRINE FOR TRAVELERS

Small Grotto Designed After Lourdes In France

Nesquehoning, Pa.—A coal miner, a priest and an Army captain have erected in this eastern Pennsylvania coal town a shrine where travelers stop to pray.

Each year on St. Christopher's day motorists line up outside the Roman Catholic church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel to receive from the Rev. A. J. Angelini the blessings of the patron saint of travelers and wayfarers for themselves and their autos.

Afterwards the visitors go to a small grotto near the church, designed after the shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes in France, and offer prayer.

It is this shrine that coal miner Placido Guido La Rizzio devoted his spare hours for five years to build while Father Angelini wrote letters to each governor of the 48 states asking for memorial stones.

As the shrine grew, stones from the states as well as a dozen foreign countries, battlefields in North Africa and Italy, Vatican City and from the race track at Indianapolis found their way to this mining town for La Rizzio's 17-foot project.

When La Rizzio finished his work in 1944, another parishioner donated a statue of St. Bernadette and commissioned a Chicago studio to build a 150-pound cement replica of the original at Our Lady of Lourdes.

The parishioner is Capt. John Gean De Angelis, for whom the church bells at Mount Carmel peeled on Nov. 14, 1942, when he with members of his crew and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker was rescued after drifting 22 days and nights in the southwest Pacific.

Now, lighted up by floodlights, the grotto-shrine can be seen on U. S. highway 209. And travelers stop to offer prayers.

Typhoid Carriers Isolated In State

Lansing—(AP)—The State Department of Health today asserted its 15-year hunt for known typhoid carriers had substantially reduced the prevalence of the disease.

As the result of uncovering 497 carriers during the period and other sanitary factors, the department said, the number of new cases of typhoid has decreased from 424 in 1931 to 87 last year, and the number of deaths from the disease dropped from 75 in 1931 to six last year.

At present, there are 265 known carriers in the state, the department said.

FARMING DONE IN BIG CITIES

Small Plots In Crowded Areas Producing Good Crops

New York——There's humus on the heels and straw in the ears of more New York City slickers than you can shake a bushel of oats at. Urban dwellers have displayed considerable zeal and ingenuity in finding patches of earth for their "farms."

The metropolis has its share of scientific farmers and an abundance of small-scale, one to nine acre farms.

An eight-year-old Brooklyn boy, Richard Alshin, raised two fine stalks of corn in his mother's wash-pail. A 2-year-old writer in the Bronx set four tomato plants ina window box overhanging his Bronx apartment. Tenants in a Quonset hut development have improved their view of a city dump by transforming part of that dump into vegetable gardens.

Charles Stevens, who lives in a top floor apartment opposite the swank Plaza Hotel in the heart of Manhattan has been experimenting with chemically raised food staples such as potatoes, corn and onions.

Penhouse dweller Carl Helm, a corporation lawyer has divided his 15 foot square terrace into a flower and vegetable garden. Helm gives the buds of his tomato plants special harmone injections which make the fruit ripen without seeds.

According to the Department of Agriculture, there has been a five per cent increase in farms under 10 acres in the United States during the past five years. Of the one million farms in this class today, many have been developed near urban areas and are operated on a part-time basis. Reasons for the growth of the part-time or subsistence farm in urban areas are, according to county agricultural experts, the availability of mechanized equipment specially designed for small farms and the necessity for moderate and low income families to meet inflationary costs.

One such typical part-time farmer, John Peterson, a municipal employee in Flushing, New York, has three acres adjoining his house under cultivation. He uses a machine which has numerous attachments for plowing, discing and harrowing.

A recent survey made by manufacturers of small-farm equipment reveals that as much as $1,700 an acre can be grossed by part-time farmers using mechanized equipment and planting specialized crops for city consumption.

RAPS VETS HOUSING

The Escanaba Daily Press
Sirs:

I think everyone in Escanaba has by this time become more or less acquainted with the Veterans' Housing Project on Lake Shore Drive. It's bout time everyone including a few of these so called officials in this town get acquainted with the inside dope on these places too. So far every petition written in to the city has been ignored.

Last spring, when a good many of us moved into these shacks (you will understand this term later) I believe everyone of us were over-joyed by the fact that we finally had a place to live. We had two medium sized bedrooms, a shower bath, living-room and kitchen combined. Besides an ice box, gas cook stove, gas heater and gas water heater was furnished. Above all children were allowed. The rent was only $25.00 per month. What a beautiful deal!

It only took us two days of steady scrubbing to get the water paint off the floor that the painters carelessly sprayed around but lo and behold there was a linoleum on the bathroom floor. What a person won't find when scraping things up.

We paid our rent, and then found the floor was about three-fourths of an inch thick with a nice drop from there to the ground which makes a very, very cold floor.

Many put linoleum and rugs on the floor plywood flooring at that, but the rain and snow storms came and we found that our windows and ceilings leaked. Linoleums became warped and furniture ruined. But after all, we're supposed to be glad to have a place, aren't we? Our husbands are veterans. This is one of the things they were promised for all they did for us overseas.

Finally the last straw broke—our gas bills came—we all have them but I thought as all the others did that we were paying for all the gas in the community. None less than $25.00 to $30.00 for utilities consumed in the month of March. We're not millionaires--just a bunch of average working Ex-GI's that would like to keep our heads above water. Even during the heat wave of this summer when everyone did as little cooking as possible and certainly didn't have our heating units on, our utilities ran up to $8 and $10. This is not a plea for understanding and sympathy. It's just a declaration of a stinking outrage!

Why don't we put in oil heaters?—because we can't get oil unless we used it last year—Why don't we move? Where to? How many apartments are vacant in this town where children are allowed. They are mostly—pets preferred. Why don't we build a place of our own—We would love to! But how in the world can anyone pay out expenses like these and still save. Don't answer that. There's no need to.

These places are unfit for children to live in and the city knows it.

The veterans did their part during the war—Escanabans—get on the ball and do yours.

Mrs. Alex Sovey.

INSIGNIA OF COMMAND
...the Star of Betsy Ross

Today the star is a symbol of knowledge and authority. The men who wear the stars of command directed armed might against a ruthless enemy. Upon them rests the nation's destiny. These men have been granted the authority of leadership. This authority is signified by stars that indicate high rank—the same five-pointed star designed in Revolutionary Days by Betsy Ross.

DEGRAFF OWNS UNIQUE RESORT

Call Of Woods Lured Phil From Music And Pulpit

Trout Lake—Higher education leads most folk out into the world where the crowds are. It led Phil DeGrass straight north to the woods, as fast as he could make it. Here he has worked out a dream in practical fashion, even though it has taken 20 years to do it.

Botanists and musician by training, he also is a self-taught practical ornithologist, stone mason, architect, carpenter, naturalist, woodsman, chef and what have you, including business man, community booster and host always to a flock of dogs, deer, birds and whatever wildlife chooses to enjoy his hospitality.

The Dream is Born

DeGraff, who stands six feet three and weighs 225 pounds, had his first glimpse of the Trout lake country in 1926 while on a camping trip with college friends. With $234 (which he had inherited) he purchased two lots on the shore of one of the twin lakes.

From that moment on, his dream was to develop a home at Trout Lake. He now has 1,200 acres and 18 cabins of log and stone—all of them built with an eye to beauty and all utilizing the natural resources of the region. The walls of the cabins, which he calls "The Cave" because it is partly sunk in the ground, were built from old concrete sidewalks from the village of Trout Lake.

French - Canadian workmen helped build the cabins, but DeGraff himself designed and carried out all the masonry in 19 unusual fireplaces. With coral deposits found in the lands nearby he created hearths of remarkable beauty and charm. Furnishings in all the cabins are rustic, with Indian craft much in evidence.

Chapel of the Birds

One of the spots of greatest interest to all visitors is his outdoor chapel, "St. Francis of the Birds," which, incidentally, is the shrine of the Michigan Wildflower association. It is a forest tract which has been untouched except for the felling of a few trees, and these were left just as they fell, for seats at outdoor divine worship.

Phil and his Indian helper grow all their own vegetables, raise their own meat. Last year an experimental orchard was planted, with some fruits which never before had been grown in the Upper Peninsula.

Before and after his purchase of the original two lots, DeGraff crowded in bachelor of arts and bachelor of music degrees from Albion college, a master's degree in botany at the U. of M. and a year at a divinity college in the east. He was born at Harbor Springs and lived in Grand Rapids as a boy, during which period he was soloist in several churches. He was graduated from Central high school in Grand Rapids. His father was pastor of several churches in the Grand Rapids arear.

And Blueberry Pancakes!

Phil is recognized as one of the top culinary experts north of the straits. He loves to cook and "make something out of nothing." His blueberry pancakes are famous. After he builds five more fireplaces he plans for writing a cookbook for gourmets only. It is a point of pride with him that his lodge is listed in the Duncan Hines directory of "Where to Eat."

Returning to Trout lake in September of 1945, after two years service in the Navy as a lieutenant, Phil preferred to luxuriate in the beauty of his northwoods haven and to serve as host to an already established clientele, but he could not ignore the great need for exploitation of the assets and facilities of the U. P., so now he is head over heels in such jobs as a director of the U. P. Development bureau, president of the Tahquamenon Falls association, member of the Sault Ste. Marie Chamber of Commerce, director of the Wildflower festival and the Indian Summer festivals—and to top it off, he spent one winter as superintendent of schools in Trout Lake!

Rochester Limits Outside Work Of City Employes

Rochester, N. Y. is among cities recently clamping down on outside employment of municipal employees according to the International City Managers' Association.

Employees of Rochester's commerce department are prohibited from engaging in outside employment which is connected directly or indirectly with the city, or where such employment is obviously possible only because of employment with the city, involving use of city records, files or equipment.

Commerce department employees who are engaged in outside employment not connetced in any way with the city must file the amount, source and details of such other income with the department, including a schedule of hours devoted to the extra-municipal work.

The commerce department operates the food terminal in Rochester, sports arena, convention hall, port, airports, license bureau and other activities.

During the war, many cities permitted municipal employees to work in outside jobs in which there was a critical labor shortage. An increasing number have returned to prewar restrictions on such extra work.

A Civil Service Assembly study conducted during the war disclosed that of 117 jurisdictions queried, only three intended to permit employees to continue such outside employment permanently.

A Garden reader of the Daily Press has sent in her favorite recipe for mustard pickles:

Mustard Pickles

Salt over night one quart small onions and as many cauliflower and cucumbers as desired. In the morning cut cucumbers and cauliflower in one inch chunks.

Dressing: three quarts vinegar, one-fourth pound dry mustard, one tablespoon turmeric, one pound brown sugar, one cup flour. Let dressing come to a boil and put in pickles. Let boil a short time.

Another mustard pickle recipe comes from Mrs. S. Paquette, of Traunik, Mich.

Mustard Pickles

2 cauliflower
2 quarts green tomatoes
6 green peppers
1 quart small onions
24 small cucumbers
3½ quarts vinegar
1 cup brown sugar
¼ lb mustard
½ ounce turmeric
¾ cup flour

Break cauliflower in small pieces. Chop tomatoes, peppers, onions and cucumbers. Cover with brine made of one cup salt to one gallon water. Let stand over night.

Heat vinegar and sugar. Add mustard, turmeric and flour which has been blended to a smooth paste with vinegar. Cook 20 minutes, stirring constantly. Add vegetables. Cook 20 minutes more. Pack in sterilized jars.

Another request received yesterday is for a recipe for canned apples for making pies. If you have this will you kindly send to the Today's Recipe department?

Connor Family Musicians All

Greenville, S. C.—Everyone in the family of Charlies Connor—his wife and four sons—plays the piano, and some double on other instruments for a jam session—but Charie, Jr., 19, is looked on somewhat dubiously, since he's the only one who plays by note.

Never a penny do they accept when they entertain at church suppers and mintsrel shows. The pleasure is payment enough, they say.

The father, a Greenville postoffice employe, says he has never coaxed any of the boys to take part in the swing sessions, but music seems to be contagious in the family.

All six also whistle, sing and play the zakoo. Connor himself likes the banjo best. Mrs. Connor joins in with her violin when she is not at the piano.

John, 12; Richard, 8, and Neail, 5, complete the sextet.

Almost every evening in their home one of the family will sit down at the piano and begin. It's not long before the other five are gathered around singing, playing or whistling as the mood takes them.

Neil, the youngster, is the only one who'll sing solo. But any two can play or sing a duet.

Music even calls the Connors to bed. The sound of taps whistled by the father is the signal for lights out.

The United States now has 110,500 miles of trolley coach, street car and bus routes, a two per cent increase over 1944.

Communication

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Limit 300 words. Letters must bear signature and address. Name must be published.)

THE HUSBANDS OBJECT

Dear Sirs:

I would appreciate it if you you print the following in the communication column of the Press:

THE NEW STYLES

Throughout the past the styles of the American women's dress has evolved to a fashion that flatter her appearance, induces better health and lets her enjoy more of the activities of life. But today the dictotors of fashions have decreed that the styles should return to those of yesteryear, with all the restrictions. And to top it all, at a time when every average family is having a difficult time to even purchase the necessities.

It appears that the manufacturers of women's clothing are afraid that they will not be able to sell enough clothing without decreeing that every woman purchase a new fashionable wardrobe. However, during the past few years these same exploiters were wailing and weeping that they did not have enough cloth, that there were shortages of everything, and now they have the audacity to suggest wasting cloth in lengthening the hemline. And this at a time when some people of this earth are underclothed.

The poor working man, that is the husbands of this country have been striving of late to furnish their families with some of the manifold electrical servants and household appliances that will give more leisure time to the mothers so that their working week may approximate that of the working man instead of from sunrise to sunset. Then, overstepping all precedence come the clothiers, with their bright idea to exploit women and empty the man's pocketbook. Thus his attempts to lighten the work of the women will be nullified.

It is true that every woman loves well cut, beautiful clothing, and there is nothing like an occasional new hat to lift a woman's morale. But in order for something to be becoming and in good taste it is not necessary to make drastic changes in the styling and length, so that all her wardrobe is outdated. A woman does not feel well dressed if the styling of her costume is out of tune with other people. And manufacturers are playing this one point to the limit for their self interests. They figure that the American women will fall for the supposedly new after a few influential persons respond. It is time for all women to resist the dictators of fashions and get the things they want instead.

FINE 3 YOUTHS FOR GAS THEFT

Third Offender Pays $50 In Justice Court

A gasoline theft ring is believed to have been broken up with the arrest of three Escanaba youths.

The youths were seen by a city policeman while draining gasoline from an auto at the Ed O'Leary home on Minneapolis avenue.

Check of the auto's license number revealed the owner, and the driver, a son of the car owner, was apprehended by Escanaba city police as he was putting the car in the garage. Yesterday morning he told state troopers who his two companions of the previous evening were.

Members of the trio were John Stropich, 17, James Froberg, 19, and Donald Little, 19.

Arraigned before Justice of Peace O. C. Estenson yesterday they pleaded guilty and Stropich was fined $50 and costs of $5.15. In addition each was ordered to make restitution in the amount of $1.35. It was the fourth time that O'Leary's car tank had been tapped. The men, however, admitted only the offense on which they were caught.

It was the third time that Stropich had been arrested for theft.

Girl Scouts, Troop 6 Line Up Program

The first regular meeting of Girl Scout Troop No. 6 was held Monday evening in the junior high school.

Ruth Cannon was elected president, Pat Moreau vice-president, and Pat Burton secretary-treasurer. Barbara Nivison was appointed assistant secretary-treasurer.

Reports were given by the girls who participated in troop camping this summer. Each girl gave a report of one day at camp. It was then suggested that each girl write her report and the troop would keep a camp journal, adding to it each time the troop went camping or hiking.

In order to keep troop attendance high it was voted that any girl missing three successive meetings without a good excuse, reported in person or by telephone to the leader, Miss June Madden, assistant leader, Miss Mary Wilfong, or president of the troop, Miss Ruth Cannon, before the meeting if possible, would be expelled from the troop.

Dues were set at 10 cents per meeting. The girls also voted that each girl's dues had to be paid up-to-date in order for her to take part in any social event, especially camping.

Miss Madden told the troop that because of the difficulty in getting leaders for troop camping and getting the girls to go camping, there would be no troop camping next summer, but suggested that each girl work during the ensuing season within the troop to earn her own way to Timber Trail.

The girls expressed their appreciation of all the work that had been put into sending them camping at Wells State Park near Stephenson, and expressed their willingness to work harder than ever to go. Miss Madden said as long as they felt that way, the troop would camp again next summer.

Girls who had gone camping were appointed patrol leaders, two girls being appointed to each patrol. Those working together are Pat Burton and Ruth Cannon, Ruth Thivierge and Ann Sword, Barbara Nivison and Mary Wilfong. Catherine Nehmer is to work with any group where one of the two patrol leaders is absent; otherwise she will work with Pat Burton and Ruth Cannon. Melanie DeHooghe is to help June Madden in arranging all outdoor affairs.

A hike was planned for Sunday, Sept. 28. A meeting of the patrol leaders will be held at Barbara Nivison's home on the evening of Sept. 25 to plan the hike.

The troop lost one member during the summer months when Noma Robertson moved to Detroit and gained one new member Monday evening when Jean Harvey attended the meeting with the intention of joining the troop. There are 23 girls in the troop, all of whom are sophomores in high school.

HANDY FIRE EXTINGUISHER

An effective fire extinguisher will be found in almost every American kitchen, that old standby baking soda. If grease in a frying pan catches fire, for instance, never put water on it, as this will simply spread the flame. Just sprinkle a handful of baking soda on the burning grease. Baking soda smothers a fire by generating carbonic acid gas, which temporarily envelopes the flame, shuts off the supply of air and thus extinguishes the fire.

CITY FATHERS HEAR CO-OP

Society Says Complaints Against Hall Not 'All Truth'

Munising — Representatives of the Co-Operative association in this area appeared before city commissioners Tuesday evening during the regular session charging that false statements were made in complaints to commissioners by local citizens regarding the sanitary conditions and noise of the Co-Op hall, west Munising avenue, which had caused commissioners last week to serve notice on the owners and operators of the hall prohibiting further dances and mixed parties to be held there.

Commissioners had deemed the hall had become a nuisance as evidenced by the complaints received and restricted the use of the hall until adequate toilet facilities and proper supervision of mixed groups was provided, to eliminate excessive noise, obscenity or disorderliness.

The Co-Op representatives claimed Tuesday evening that adequate toilet facilities had always been maintained at the hall and that the owners and operators of the hall should not be held responsible for actions of patrons at parties and dances when such persons were off the Co-Op premises. Commissioners had said earlier in the meeting they had heard complaints that patrons at functions at the hall were relieving themselves on the lawns of surrounding private homes.

At the invitation of the Co-Op men, the commissioners adjourned and examined the sanitary facilities of the hall Tuesday evening. Upon their return to the city hall, Mayor Gibson reported the Co-Op Hall, at the time of the insp ction, did have two toilets one for men and one for women, and that one of the bowls still had a store tag on it. The mayor had remarked earlier during the meeting that commissioners had heard reports and complaints prior to issuing the restraining notice a week ago that the hall had only one toilet for women and that a pail was provided for the men.

Mayor Gibson also pointed out that no complaints had ever been received following meetings of the Co-Op Association or society. The Co-Op representatives stated the association meets only a few times a year, but that the hall has been rented out for dances to other parties during the year.

The commissioners did not issue the restraining notice regarding the use of the hall with intent to cast reflection on the Co-Op association or society, Mayor Gibson said, but merely to restrict the use of the hall to abate a nuisance. The Co-Op men, given the assurance Tuesday evening that the commissioners would make a public resolution to that effect, retired from the meeting. The commissioner's resolution on the matter was not immediately available.

Yesterday', in a statement to the Press, Mayor Gibson said the restraining order on the use of the hall was still in effect.

Television Across Ocean Is Forecast

Chicago, (SS.)—Television of the relatively near future will permit us to look around the earth, from city to city and nation to nation, as easily as we now listen to global broadcasts, Brig. Gen David Sarnoff, president of Radio Corporation of America, told the American National Commission of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Culutral Organization here today.

This is no idle dream, he said, and no one need doubt that we shall have international television. It is nearer than most people may realize. Already the scientific principles and means for world-wide television are known. No technical problem is involved that money can not solve.

The system predicted would permit Americans to see events as they occur in foreign nations, and their citizens to see happenings in other nations in the same continent or in other continents. It would give a picture of life more vivid than can be conveyed by the press or the radio.

WANT ACTION ON LAKE LEVEL

Indian Lake Residents Want New Dam On Indian River

Alarmed over the present low water stage at Indian lake and the need for prompt remedial action to restore a satisfactory level at the lake, residents living in that popular resort area are preparing a petition to be presented to the Schoolcraft county board of supervisors at their session of October 13 asking that body to set up a special assessment district to finance the construction of a new dam on Indian river to supplant the present one which is now useless.

This action was taken at a meeting Tuesday evening at the Hovey resort which was attended by resort and cottage owners and by several members of the county board, about 40 people being present.

The petition will ask that steps be taken to restore the water levels to at least that low water stage decree set by Judge Herbert Runnels in 1945 which would raise the water to at least 10.1 inches above the present level. It was agreed by those present at the meeting that the only way this can be accomplished is by the construction of a new water control dam to replace the present one.

The petitioners are fortified by an opinion from the attorney general's office which was read at Tuesday evening's meeting and which stated that in view of the circuit court's ruling establishing a minimum level, the maintenance of this level is mandatory.

The chief matter confronting the construction of the necessary dam or embankments, it was stated, lay in designating who shall bear the expense of this necessary improvement.

This, it was generally believed among those present at the meeting, would be decided upon at the supervisor's meeting. Sponsors of this move have been given assurance from the state conservation department that that body, which owns 27 per cent of the frontage on Indian lake, is heartily in sympathy with residents of that area and will bear its share of expense when funds are required to float the necessary improvement.

Snails Menace Food In Pacific Islands

Wellington —(AP) — Giant snails with shells six to eight inches long, introduced into the Pacific Islands by the Japanese to augment their food supplies, have multiplied into millions in both New Ireland and New Britain where they are now menacing food supplies.

This information has been given by Flight Sgt. J. R. Begg of Christ Church who has returned to New Zealand atfer conducting a search for missing New Zealand air force personnel.

The pests have attacked native food sources, such as paw-paws, as well as plantations, Begg said.

"After an overnight shower," he said, "there were three snails to every square foot of roadway in New Britain. The larger shells do not even crack under the weight of a jeep. But the smaller ones crumble easily and once the hot sun beats down on them, you need a gas mask to travel the road."

STRIKE OVER OFFICIALLY

Contract Signed At Plant Of Michigan Dimension

The three months' old strike at the Michigan Dimension plant, called off last Wednesday by Local 423 UFAW, CIO, with which employes are affiliated, terminated officially Tuesday morning when a contract mutually acceptable to both employer and employes was signed.

The contract is binding for one year and will expire September 1, 1948. A back to work movement is already underway. It will be several days, however, before operations will be in full swing at the plant. Maintenance men were put to work last week in anticipation of the strike's termination and this will help facilitate operations. Employes will be called to work according to their seniority status.

By the terms of the agreement, employes will receive the 2½ cents per hour increase in wages offered them, according to union spokesmen, on July 25, and a system of bonus payments, agreeable to both sides was also agreed upon.

Signing the contract for the union were Lawrence LaPorte, president of the local, Alvin Winkler, Dave Cooper, Henry Gauthier and John Benish. Ray Prine signed for the company.

Perennial plants are about three-eights water.

Partridge Commits Suicide At Home Of Heinie Weber

Heinie Weber wants it distinctly understood that he is no game violator, but if partridge isn't on the menu at his home some time today, it's his own fault. At any rate, a very fine, plump partridge did him the favor of committing hari kari in his back yard.

It was about noon Wednesday and Mr. Weber was in his back yard when along came the partridge in very much of a flutter and without warning it landed plop against his clothes line and then to the ground.

Deeply sympathizing with the creature, he rushed over to see what had happened and what could be done, but the bird was dead.

He took it over to Tom Mellon, conservation officer, and related the strange facts. Mellon was well aware that some thing strange was amiss because a moment before the same bird had flown into a window at the Bud Reno home, at 511 Arbutus avenue, and smashed it. Weber was given custody of the bird.

A's Push Tiges To 3rd Place With Double Win

Philadelphia, Sept. 17 (AP)—Philadelphia knocked Detroit out of second place and moved within stepping distance of the first division as they beat the Tigers in both ends of a twin-bill here today before 6,654.

The A's won the first game 6-4 and the second 8 to 6, coming from behind in both to win.

In the first game, Detroit held a 3-1 lead going into the eighth inning but the Athletics knocked Art Houtteman out of the box with five runs on four hits and expensive errors by George Kell and Eddie Lake.

Detroit got off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning of the second game but the A's blasted Virgil Trucks for two runs in the first, knocked him out of the box in the second with four more, and went on to win before Hal White halted the uprising. It was Phil Marchildon's 17th win of the season.

The double licking dropped the Tigers a half game behind Boston, which stepped back into second place, and ended Detroit's last eastern trip at an even break—six wins in a dozen games.

Houtteman was comfortably out front in the opener until the roof caved in in the big Philadelphia eighth.

Elmer Valo started it off with a triple and scored on Sam Chapman's single. Eddie Lake dropped Roy Cullenbine's throw on a possible double play and when Pete Suder walked the bases were packed. Eddie Joost singled home the tying run and when George Kell fumbled Mike Guerra's roller Ferris Fain came in from third with the winning run. Manager Steve O'Neill and Catcher Bob Swift of the Tigers complained that Fain collided with Kell and charged interference but the squawk only served to get Swift chased from the game. Barney McCosky then delivered his second hit of the game to drive in Philadelphia's last two runs.

The Tigers got three runs in the first inning of the nightcap but Trucks couldn't stand prosperity and promptly yielded eight hits and six runs in the 1 2/3 innings he stayed around. That put the A's ahead to stay and Hal White, Johnny Gorsica, Al Benton and Paul Trout paraded to the mound in that order without being able to do anything about it.

Eddie Joost's 13th homer, worth two runs, came off Gorica in the fotrth and Detroit's three-run rally in the seventh was too little, and too late.

Three Philadelphia pitchers, Bill Dietrich and Russ Christopher in the opener and Marchildon in the nightcap, walked 19 men altogether but the Tigers couldn't get more than seven hits in each game and left 18 runners on the bases.

Detroit, idle tomorrow, returns home Saturday to face the Cleveland Indians in the first two games of its final three-game series of the season in Briggs Stadium.

Mize Hits Two Homers To Catch Kiner At 49

Chicago, Sept. 17 (AP) — Johnny Mize slammed two homers today to tie Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh for the major league lead as the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader. The Giants won the opener 9-3 and the Cubs won the second game slugfest 12-10.

Mize slugged his first homer for the Giants in the first game and hit his equalizer in the second inning of the second game. Walker Cooper added his 34th in the opener and Willard Marshall hit his 36th in the second game to bring the Giants' record total for the season up to 210.

With Chicago leading 10-4 in the second game the Giants staged a thrilling six-run rally in the top of the ninth to tie the score, but the Cubs came back to win in their half of the ninth when Bill Nicholson rifled his 23rd homer with one man on base.

DODGERS DUMP PIRATES, 4-2

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17 (AP)—Brooklyn's pace-setting Dodgers apparently bound for a National league pennant, defeated the Pittburgh Pirates 4-2 before a crowd of 33,916 tonight at Forbes Field.

The Dodgers took the lead in the fourth inning as First Baseman Jackie Robinson lined a home-run into Greenberg Gardens with no one aboard, a feat duplicated by team-mate Don Lund in the sixth. The Dodgers scored two runs on four hits in the fifth, one of them a double by Robinson.

Hal Gregg got credit for the victory, his fourth of the season against five losses, but he needed some help from Hank Behrman when the Pirates threatened in the eighth.

The Dodgers had a 4-run lead before Pittsburgh counted its first marker in the sixth inning. That came on two walks and a single by Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh outfielder who has belted 49 homers this season and who is tied with Johnny Mize of the New York Giants for the major league leadership.

Jim Russell tripled to open the Pirate eighth. Frank Gustine singled off Gregg's glove to score Russell.

Manager Bert Shotton got Behrman on the mound in a hurry and he responded like a fire horse, fanning both Kiner and Greenberg to end the threat. In the ninth he retired three men in order.

GIANTS UPSET RAMS

New York,, Sept. 17 (AP)— The up-to-now offense-less New York Giants popped up with a surprise aerial attack headed by Jerry Niles, one-time Iowa ace, tonight to upset the hitherto-unbeaten Los Angeles Rams 30 to 3 in a National Football League exhib.-tion.

It's No Joke, Son! Diz Dean Back On Mound

St. Louis, Sept. 17 (AP)—Trying to brighten the waning days of the American league season for their cash customers, the St. Louis Browns today signed Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean to a player contract, the duration of which the former pitching great of the St. Louis Cardinals wise-cracked "depends on the other team."

Regardless of his success, "Old Diz," out of baseball uniform since 1941 and now a radio sports announcer here, declared he was signed to pitch only one game.

The big righthander won 30 games in one season at the height of his career with the Cardinals during the Gas House Gang era.

Terms of the contract, a formality to make it legal in a baseball way, were not disclosed, but Dean declared "It's the best contract I ever got, since it's the first one I haven't sent back for more money."

Broken Bat Hit Robs Joe Dobson Of No-Hit Game

Boston, Sept. 17 (AP) — Only a broken bat single, looped into right field by Wally Judnich in the seventh inning, kept Red Sox Pitcher Joe Dobson from hurling a no hitter today as he blanked the Browns 4-0 in the second game of a doubleheader before 7,064 fans who saw the cellar dwelling St. Louis club win the opener 9-4.

Dobson, the most dependable hurler in this not so happy Red Sox season, struck out four of the Brownies and walked six as he won his 17th victory of the season. He has lost seven.

Dobson received good support at the plate as Jake Jones walloped a two run homer, his 19th four bagger of the season, and Sam Mele stroked his 12th.

Ted Williams who got four hits in eight trips during the two games, walloped his 30th home run in the fourth inning of the opener.

Johnny Pesky got five hits in eight times at bat, making his total for the season 197 and running a consecutive game hitting streak to 23.

Sox starter Earl Johnson didn't have it in the opener and also was the victim of shoddy support in the opening inning when two errors, a hit batsman, a walk, a sacrifice and two hits gave the Browns four runs.

Some beetles protect themselves from enemies in the manner of skunks: the emission of evil-smelling or distasteful secretions; others merely by a repellant appearance.

REYNOLDS YANK STRIKEOUT KING

Fans Nine As American Champions Blank Chisox, 5-0

New York, Sept. 17 (AP) — Allie Reynolds, the ace righthander of the New York Yankees, recaptured the rank as the team's leading strikeout pitcher today by fanning nine batters in pitching a 5-0 shutout victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Reynolds, who chalked up his 18th victory against only seven losses, now has 122 strikeouts, compared with 114 for Relief Pitcher Lefty Joe Page.

The win raised the stock of Reynolds in the bid to hurl the opening World Series game for the Yankees.

Reynolds allowed seven hits. The Yanks made the same number, but bunched them better. They scored a run in the first inning, and four in the third on four hits off starter Thornton Lee.

Vander Meer Shows Old Time Form By Shutting Out Phils

Cincinnati, Sept. 17 (AP)—For the second successive time in five days, Lefty Johnny Vander Meer flashed his old pitching form today, shutting out the Philadelphia Blue Jays with four hits and leading Cincinnati to a 12 to 0 win.

On last Saturday, Vandy checked the New York Giants with four safeties as the Reds won 3-2. Today's victory was his ninth of the season.

Only 1,072 people saw the Reds pound starting Pitcher Oscar Judd from the box in the fourth when they scored five times. After counting once in each of the first two frames, the Reds scored five times again in the eighth off Frank Hoerst on six hits.

Harry Walker, leading hitter for the National League, did not accompany Philadelphia here because of an injured shoulder.

Rexton Defeats Gould City Nine In Playoff, 3-2

Gould City, Sept. 17—Rexton defeated Gould City here, 3-2, in the second game of the Central league championship series.

Rexton scored two runs in the first frame and held the lead until Fisher and Allan scored in the third and fourth innings, respectively, to tie up the game. A Gould City error in the ninth let in the winning run. Browley went the route on the Gould City mound and Paquin went all the way for Rexton.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

* * *

"Belanger, the Mr. Outside, ripped off yardage totaling 67 yards," Levin writes. "In the first half, his long ground gains were nine, 11, 12 and nine yards * * * The much-feared Gustafson only rambled off 34 yards, but they came in vital spots. Many of his short runs were the only ones that gave the Eskymos a first down.

* * *

"Mr. Inside (Gustafson) was hitting the Blue Devil forward wall all afternoon, and when he scored his only touchdown, it came on a line play."

* * *

Belanger and Gustafson are truly the Blanchard and Davis of Escanaba, if not the Upper Peninsula. That, however, remains to be seen. Ironwood will prove to be a stiff test here Saturday.

* * *

In case you're wondering why Gustafson gained "only" 34 yards against the Soo, it can be explained, in part at least, by the fact that he was injured on a defensive play early in the game while going in for a tackle. He suffered a hard blow to the groin, which undoubtedly slowed him down considerably.

* * *

The "Moose" was not suited up for practice yesterday afternoon, and it is doubtful if he will see action against Ironwood. Gustafson was under the heat lamp yesterday, and Ted Gardner, tackle, who sprained an ankle at the Soo, also was nursing his injury. Coach George Ruwitch has made no definite commitment whether they will play against the Red Devils.

* * *

Frank Kopenski, Iron River's all-U. P. back last year, scored three touchdowns, one on a pass, and kicked a brace of extra points when the Redskins blanked Hancock, 20-0, last Saturday. He is well nigh a one-man ball club.

* * *

They're shouting the praises of Houghton's eleven after its 64-0 triumph over Crystal Falls. In the opener, Houghton beat Wakefield, 44-6, which makes Houghton the highest scoring team in the U. P., 108 points to opponents' six.

* * *

But Wakefield and Crystal Falls are weak ball clubs. Houghton has yet to face tough opposition of the caliber of Iron River, Iron Mountain, Menominee and shall we say Escanaba? With the exception of Houghton, the Copper Country has had tough sledding. Hancock bowed to Iron River, 20-0 and Calumet lost to Ironwood, 25-13.

* * *

CUFF NOTES: The Packer-Bear game at Green Bay Sunday, Sept. 28, is already a sellout . . . Upper Peninsula's fast hockey league, dubbed the Michigan-Ontario-Wisconsin Hockey circuit this season, is organized for the coming winter . . . Bids were accepted from Calumet, Houghton, Marquette, Soo, Mich., Soo, Ont., and Eagle River, Wis. . . . Because of the admittance of Eagle River and the Canadian Soo, the name was changed from Northern Michigan to Michigan-Ontario-Wisconsin . . . Meanwhile, Escanaba is preparing for independent hockey with a rink 40 feet short of this fast league's minimum length standards.

In the recent Gladstone-Escanaba Rainbow league playoff won by the Bears, Pitcher Fitzpatrick's edge over Rothschild, Gladstone moundsman, was in being able to hold a runner on base . . . Actually, Fitz was tagged for six hits and Rothschild gave up only four.

Instead of maintaining permanent plants, early English makers of ceramic tile are believed to have traveled about the country and constructed special kilns wherever they received a large tile order.

The only mammalian life in the Antarctic is found in the sea—various species of whales and a few species of seals which live through the winter by keeping blow-holes open in the sea ice.

Winds Slash Path Of Ruin Across State

gineers announced that the costly dike-system was proving its worth, and would hold despite tremendous pressure and 95-mile winds.

Refugee Trains Jammed

Earlier, more than 10,000 persons evacuated the Okeechobee region by car and by train, seeking higher ground near Sebring. Two refugee trains, their box cars and baggage cars jammed with men, women and children, reached their destination after severe buffeting. Occupants told of mud being whipped from the swamps and driven into their faces by the gale.

Hundreds of thousands sought refugee in hotels and public shelters throughout the storm area.

Two out of three radio towers owned by Station WCBE of Miami, and located at Fort Lauderdale, were sent crashing to the ground although built to withstand 175-mile winds.

Birds sang at Fort Lauderdale during the deceitful lull marking passage of the hurricane's center—then fled before 119-mile pounding which buried 20 yachts beneath a collapsed storage shed.

Hotels Isolated

There was considerable damage at Delray Beach, and a collapsing house buried its occupants at Deerfield. "Millionaire's row" at Palm Beach was a tangle of uprooted palms and fallen wires. Damage was described by police as "heavy".

Fashionable stores at Miami Beach, improperly protected for the summer, were badly beaten by the storm, and suffered water damage. Hotels were isolated when causeways to the mainland were closed, and when power and water failed.

Three persons were missing on a private yacht, which radioed for help during the height of the East Coast blow. However, it appeared possible that they reached safety at Caesar's Creek, where the Coast Guard said three persons were aboard a boat. Six others were said to be marooned in a private home at Cape Florida, 23 miles north of Miami.

Prompt feder l aid to assauge "damage, hardship and suffering" from the mighty storm was ordered by President Truman. Enroute from Brazil to Washington aboard the U. S. S. Missouri, the president radioed the Federal Works Agency to turn available and needed surplus property over to state and local governments for hurricane relief.

Shipments of medical supplies, ambulances, construction equipment, radio and other communication apparatus were started quickly from depots in Atlanta.

Red Cross and Salvation Army workers were active throughout the area, and Army personnel stood by for medical service. The Coast Guard planned extensive air reconnaissance tomorrow, and Army rescue planes now in Cuba were ordered to proceed to Nassau.

All Army and Navy planes on the West Coast of Florida were evacuated hurriedly and sent to inland fields. A B-29 squadron from McDill Field flew deep into the mid-west, landing at Scott and Chanute Fields.

EAGLES SHOW POWER

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 17 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles, of the National Football League, led by hustling Steve Van Buren, romped to their first exhibition victory of the season tonight, 42 to 7 over their American League farm club, the Bethlehem Bulldogs.

Workers At Farm Tractor Factory Strike For Raise

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 17 (AP) — Production of farm tractors was halted today at the International Harvester plant here when 1,200 members of the CIO-United Farm Equipment Workers walked out in what the company called a strike over wages.

Charles A. Gibson, president of local 236 of the CIO affiliate, said the stoppage is not a strike. He added that 60 days notice is required for a strike under the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The employes said they would attend a "continuous meeting" at CIO hall until the company agrees to pay the same wage rates in Louisville that it pays at its other plants outside Chicago.

The plant employs about 2,100 production workers.

The starting wage scale here is 91 ½ cents an hour. The union is asking $1.02 and the company has offered 94 cents.

ATTACK MADE UPON RUSSIA BY MARSHALL

clined to approve the partition plan favored by the majority of the special U. N. committee on Palestine.

5. The assembly take steps to insure the promised independence of Korea, now deferred by continuing disagreements between the United States and Russia.

6. As soon as conditions of internation harmony make it possible a system of regulating conventional armaments must be formulated.

Mindful of the fact that Russia has cast 20 vetoes and France two in the security council, Marshall declared:

"The abuse of the right of unanimity (the veto) has prevented the security council from fulfilling its true functions. This has been especially true in cases arising under Chapter VI (the peaceful settlement section of the U. N. charter) and in the admission of new members.

"The government of the United States has come to the conclusion that the only practicable method for improving this situation is a liberalization of the voting procedure in the council.

"The United States would be willing to accept, by whatever means may be appropriate, the elimination of the unanimity requirement with respect to matters arising under Chapter VI of the charter and such matters as applications for membership."

He proposed that the assembly establish a special committee for study of the liberalization of the voting procedure in the council. This group would report to the next session of the assembly.

But Soviet Russia is expected to fight every attempt to change the charter—and doubtless would veto all attempts to liberalize the veto.

Radios Help Oust 11 Polish Squatters From U. S. Embassy

Warsaw, Sept. 17. (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Stanton Griffis won the battle of the squatters in the embassy today with the aid of the Polish foreign ministry and four blaring radios. The squatters, preparing to depart, complained of headaches.

The ambassador kept his four radios going day and night in his battle to force 10 women, one man, one dog and one cat from quarters in the embassy building. The squatters maintained they had no other place to live.

LAW MAKERS WANT PRINTED LIQUOR RULES

of the sale of beer and wine in self-serve stores.

More Package Licenses

Package beer and wine (SDM) licenses may be issued to places holding package liquor (SDD), taverns, Class C, Class A hotel and Class B hotel licenses.

A rule preventing transfer of a package beer and wine license for one year will be suspended.

Partnership applicants for package beer and wine licenses may be granted if only one can pass a written examination and the other an oral test.

Persons may hold more than one package beer and wine, package liquor, Class A hotel and Class B hotel licenses, but may not hold more than one Class C or tavern license.

The previous policy of assessing penalties of 30 days suspension, 60 days suspension and then loss of license for successive sale of liquor to minors within two years was softened to include a 90-day suspension before the final revocation. Proof of care by licensees to ascertain the age of minors may mitigate the sentences.

Shrine On Wheels, Freedom Train Is Presented To U. S.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17 (AP)—Christening of the Freedom Train in this historic birthplace of American liberty today brought a strong attack on Communism and a challenge that freedom must be worldwide if there is to be any at all.

U. S. Senator Martin (R-Pa.) called the red, white and blue shrine on wheels America's best weapon against Communism and asserted "we can fight that system and win without stooping to its tactics."

Attorney General Tom C. Clark, credited with fathering the idea of showing "U. S. A. everywhere" how liberty was won in 1776, insisted that "unless America shares its freedom with all nations, there will soon be no freedom for anyone in the broad reaches of the world."

The shrine on wheels, carrying more than 100 priceless documents and dedicated to carry its message of liberty east, north, west and south in a 33,000-mile, year-long pilgrimage across the nation, was formally presented to America with little pomp, on the 160th anniversary of the signing of the constitution.

Another Ford Local Votes Down Pension Promoted By UAW

Detroit, Sept. 17 (AP) — Opponents of a proposed pension plan for the Ford Motor Company's 107,000 production workers won another victory today as Lincoln local 900 of the CIO United Auto Workers became the 10th to reject the plan.

Harry Koss, chairman of local 900's election committee, said 278 votes were cast for the pension plan, which provides for a seven cent hourly pay increase in addition to the long-range pension benefits.

The alternative proposal of an 11½ cent increase plus six paid holidays drew 2,131 supporters.

Koss reported that 119 workers were against both proposals.

Nine other locals previously had turned thumbs down on the pension program. Unofficial returns from all ten locals show 14,160 opposed to it, with 1,452 supporting it.

Fayette, Sept. 17 — Fayette staved off a Gulliver rally in the ninth inning to win a 7-6 ball game here. Fayette rammed out nine hits to six for Gulliver. Hitting star of the game was Ranguette, catcher, who had a perfect day at bat, four for four.

Sailor Gets Jail For Manslaughter In Soo Girl's Death

Baltimore, Sept. 17 (AP)—The case of the canvas-wrapped body found floating in Baltimore harbor last July came to a close today with the sentencing of a 26-year-old barge worker to 18 months in jail for manslaughter.

Lloyd Douglas George originally was indicted for murder, but the state accepted his plea of guilty on the lesser charge.

The victim was identified as Doris O'Brien, alias Doris Waterman, 40, a native of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. Her trussed and weighted body was found beating against pier pilings after she had been dead for approximately ten days.

George testified that he met the woman in a Baltimore tavern July 13. He said she died after a fall aboard a barge during a drinking party.

KING, 90, SHOOTS ELK

Stockholm, Sept. 17 (AP) —King Gustaf V, soon turning 90 but still spry, felled two bull elks and a heifer with three shots on the first day of his present hunting trip in central Sweden, it was disclosed today.

cation of 16,876,000 pounds, largely to nations in the Western hemisphere. It said this quantity, which is the same as the allocation for the current quarter, is about one fourth of one per cent of the anticipated fourth quarter production of meat.

The department also reported that retail milk prices advanced in about 25 per cent of the nation's urban markets during early September as production declined. Further price increases were forecast for October.

Carlot Purchasing Of Food Planned By 40 UAW Locals

Detroit, Sept. 17. (AP) — Forty Michigan locals of the CIO United Auto Workers joined today in a cooperative plan for carlot purchases of food and other commodities for sale to members at cost in what union officials called an all-out fight against inflation.

President Walter P. Reuther said locals would be asked to authorize loans of one dollar a member for the purpose of acquiring warehouse facilities and for working capital.

He said the warehouses would be located in Detroit, Flint, Pontiac, Lansing and other Michigan communities. He made no estimate on the number of potential patrons. The 40 unions have thousands of members.

The plan was evolved after several UAW locals set up their own grocery stores to sell food to their members. Under that program, food was purchased on a wholesale basis and resold without profit to unionist families.

Reuther said the new program had been broadened to include contract purchases of fresh produce from farmers for direct sale at union halls. He added that offers of oil tires, gloves and other consumer commodities had been reported by some locals and that the buying program would be expanded to include such staple items.

Don't Worry About World Series Ducat —There Aren't Any

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—If you haven't ordered your ticket for the 1947 World Series, don't bother. There aren't any left.

The bad news came late today om General Manager John Collins of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who announced that his overworked staff would not accept any more applications after midnight tonight.

The Yankees have long been sold out.
